

Looking at the aim

Dr Alison Clarke, University College London

Duration of video clip: 45 seconds

Well I think we need to look at the overall aim and the purpose for what you're doing. So when I'm doing research, I would always ask, who is this going to benefit - and obviously it mustn't harm anybody - but I think it's also a question of what would the participants gain from that encounter potentially? So I think with the film such as Justine it has given us a way into understanding a very different world really, through her life and what you've enabled us to see of her life through the filming, so I think there is a there is a value in that possibly couldn't have been reached in other ways.
